

Battleship puzzle 5: 6x6, counting only

6 x 6 · 6 ships · 10 ship squares · 2 given squares · counting only

Find the hidden fleet. Each number counts the ship squares in its row or column.
Ships lie straight and never touch, not even at a corner. Wavy squares are water.

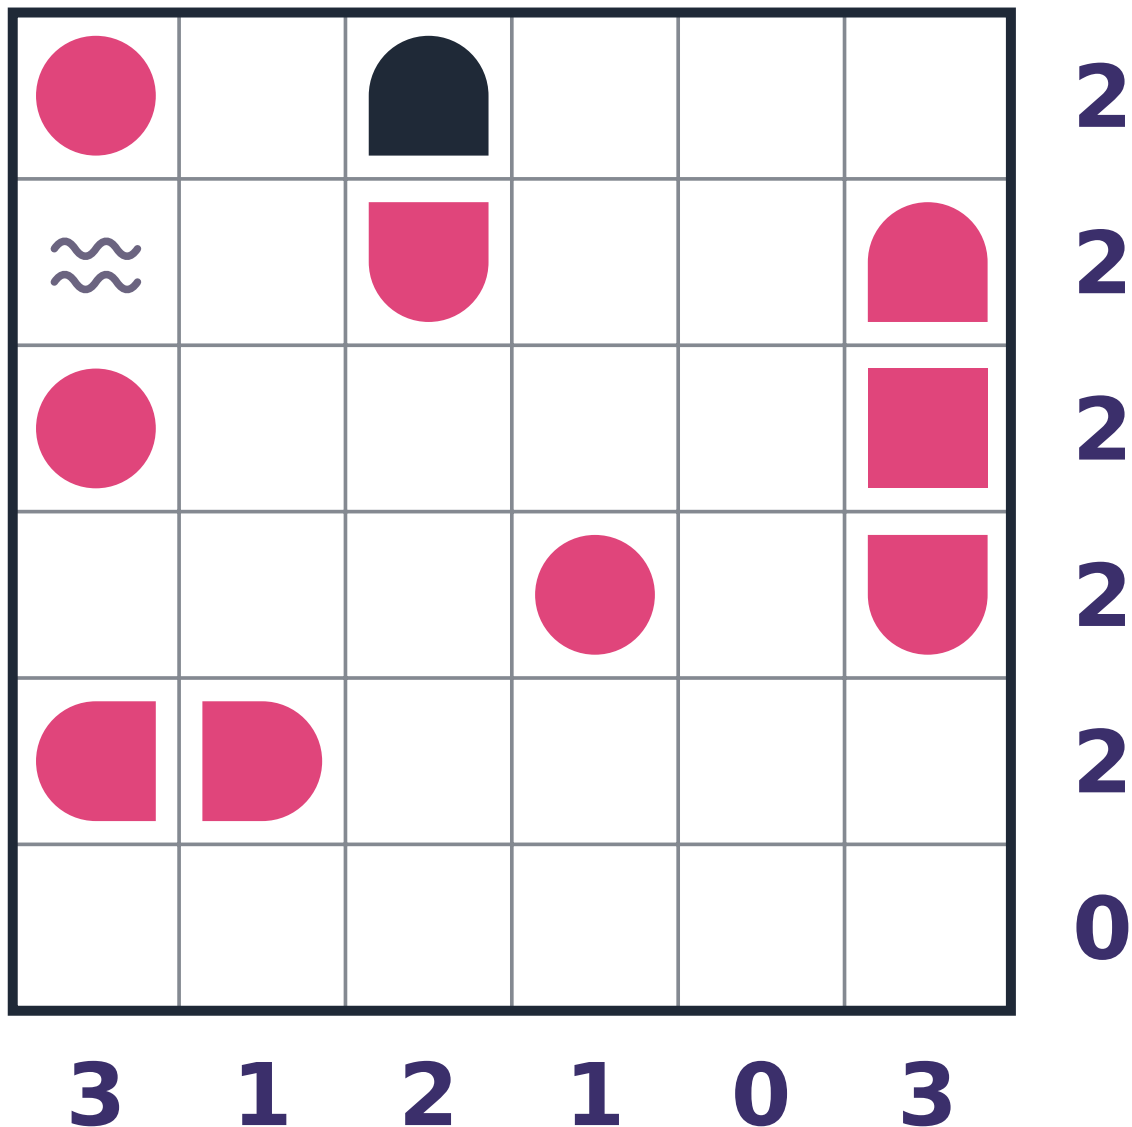

|                                                                                   |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   |   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|---|---|---|
|                                                                                   |   |  |   |   |   | 2 |
|  |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   | 2 |
|                                                                                   |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   | 2 |
|                                                                                   |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   | 2 |
|                                                                                   |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   | 2 |
|                                                                                   |   |                                                                                   |   |   |   | 0 |
| 3                                                                                 | 1 | 2                                                                                 | 1 | 0 | 3 |   |

Fleet:

Battleship puzzle 5: 6x6, counting only (solution)

6 x 6 · 6 ships · 10 ship squares · 2 given squares · counting only

Find the hidden fleet. Each number counts the ship squares in its row or column.
Ships lie straight and never touch, not even at a corner. Wavy squares are water.

Fleet:        